Disclaimer

The EODID Athens Mediation & Arbitration Organization is an organization providing arbitration and mediation support services and does not provide legal services or legal assistance of any kind.

Through its representatives and its dedicated Help Desk, EODID may respond to questions and enquiries concerning the following matters:

- Which types of disputes may be resolved through EODID Arbitration or Mediation Rules.
- The services provided by EODID in support of dispute resolution through arbitration or mediation, including the organization, administrative support and hosting of proceedings.
- How to appoint an arbitrator or mediator suited to the specific needs of your case from EODID's Roster of Arbitrators and Mediators.
- The procedures to be followed in arbitration or mediation proceedings conducted under the EODID Rules.
- The indicative costs of arbitration or mediation based on EODID's applicable Schedule of Fees.
- The role and responsibilities of the Arbitration Committee, the Arbitration Board and the Mediation Board.

The information provided on the above matters is intended solely for general informational purposes. It does not constitute advice or guidance concerning any dispute you may wish to resolve and is not, under any circumstances, a substitute for legal advice provided by your lawyer or legal counsel.
